favorites FALL

A MINI DIGITAL IDEA BOOK

Includes 5 Autumn themed scrapbooking layouts.

Kiwi Lane

www.kiwilane.com
© Kiwi Lane 2026 -personal use only

Frame the everyday

Abbie Road (2A, 2B), Rings (3, 4, 5), Grateful (1, 2), Forage (2, 3, 4, 5), Tweet (5), Toadstool (3, 6, 7), Tiny seasons (3), Photos: Left: (2: 4x6), Right: (2: 3x4, 2: 2x3)

What I love about this page:

This was an ordinary walk, but I'm so glad we took pictures and gave it a place in our album. The photos and journaling bring back a moment that still calms my soul.

Try this on your next page:

Create three embellishment groupings—one small, one medium, and one large—and position them to form a triangle across your layout. They give your eye little places to pause as you take in the photos.

Bring your photos to the center

Mini Madison (1A, 1B), Treehouse (4, 5, 8), Bee Sweet (1, 3), Scallops (2A, 2B), Photos: Left: (2: 4x6), Right: (2: 4x6)

What I love about this page:

I don't often arrange my photos down the middle, but I love how the tiny borders frame them here. The swing and bird's nest make the whole page feel playful.

Try this on your next page:

Trace overlapping rings onto your background, then scatter a few punched leaves along the curves. It's a playful way to suggest leaves swirling in the breeze, and one I keep coming back to.

A fresh color for fall

Alora Trims (1, 2, 3), Tiny seasons (3), Bountiful (10, 11), Streamers (2), All Aboard (7), Forget Me Not a la carte, She Loves Me a la carte, Cozy Colors (1, 2, 3, 5), Photos: Left: (3: 4x4), Right: (2: 4x6, 1: 4x5)

What I love about this page:

I love how this page feels like fall with a less traditional mix of colors. The plaid, gingham, seasonal shapes, and photos bring the autumn feeling together.

Try this on your next page:

Trace a design directly onto your background paper instead of cutting it from another sheet. I used the Cozy Colors Swirl here—it's a fun way to get a different look from your templates.

P.S. You're getting a little peek at the new Alora Trims here—available for preorder now, with more ideas to come!

A little paper goes a long way

Mini Riley (1A, 1B, 3A, 3B), Autumn (1, 3, 4, 6), Cozy Colors (1, 3),
Photos: Left: (2: 3x3, 2: 3x4), Right: (2: 4x6, 2: 3x3)

What I love about this page:

I had only a few scraps left, but the patterned strips and mini borders gave me plenty to work with. I love how complete the layout feels with so little paper.

Try this on your next page:

Place a few patterned strips side by side to create a backdrop for your photos, then repeat those papers in small clusters nearby. Try this same arrangement again with different photos and papers.

Frame it with a wider border

Cozy Colors (1, 2, 3, 4), Paisley Place (2A, 2B), Nature (4),
Photos: Left: (2: 3x4, 1: 4x6), Right: (2: 4x6)

What I love about this page:

I love how the wide two-inch strips give the borders more presence. They frame the photos while keeping the whole layout clean and simple. It makes me excited to play with Strips again when they return!

Try this on your next page:

Use a tracing disk to cut a slightly larger opening in your strip, then center the matching paper shape inside. The background showing around it creates a little outline.

A Note From Susan

I often think about why I love fall so much. Some of it is the cooler weather, the colors, and the cozy feeling of being home. But I think part of it is how much I notice. A tree I pass every day suddenly catches my eye. An ordinary afternoon feels like a good reason to take a walk—and a few pictures.

That's something I want to carry into my scrapbooking, too. When I look through past layouts, I often notice something I want to try again. A color combination, the way the photos are arranged, or a little detail can become the beginning of a completely different page.

I hope you've found something like that in this collection. You don't need the same paper or every template I used. Start with what caught your eye, pull out what you have, and see where it takes you.

And remember, an ordinary afternoon, a walk outside, or a few silly pictures together are all worth making a page for. Those little moments often become the memories we're most grateful we kept.

Thank you for letting me share a few of my fall favorites with you. I hope you have fun creating something that feels like you.

Happy playing!

Susan

